Subject: Letting Microsoft off the hook

Add me to the list of millions of Americans and tens of thousands of computer technology administrators who feel you have completely dropped the ball on protecting our freedoms from the obvious aim of world control of computer and internet technology by Microsoft. I thought your job was to protect us, but instead you turn us over to be held hostage by a company that has shown no mercy in crushing every obstacle in its path. Where is the freedom in "freedom of choice" when there are no longer any choices. DISGRACEFUL.
